MEDFORD, Ore. -- Medford Fire Department says a stapler in a microwave caused a structure fire Tuesday night at the Medford campus of Rogue Community College.

Fire crews first received the report of the fire at 3:59 p.m. NewsWatch 12 was on scene as students and staff exited the building at 101 S Bartlett St.

NewsWatch 12 connected with battalion chief Jason John of MFD on scene, who confirmed the stapler caused the fire. Students and staff then went back inside at around 4:36 p.m. once crews got it under control.
